Policy group promotes leader

The Texas Public Policy Foundation has promoted its spokesman to vice president for the limited government, free-market think tank.

Michael Quinn Sullivan has been the head of media and government relations for the group since 2001.

"In this new position, Michael will have an even greater role in the administration and direction of the foundation as we seek to fulfill our mission of improving Texas through sound public policy," said Brooke Leslie Rollins, the group's president.

Sullivan has worked as a newspaper reporter and a columnist for two daily Texas newspapers.
