

4th Annual

Policy Orientation For The Texas Legislature

Presented by the Texas Public Policy Foundation

Each year, the Texas Public Policy Foundation hosts a comprehensive policy orientation designed to provide legislators and policy leaders with sound information and innovative ideas on how to tackle the state's most pressing economic issues.

Leading experts from across the nation discuss innovative ideas and exciting research in a panel format. Topics are chosen based on those issues expected to receive the most attention during the upcoming legislative session, and require the benefit of sound, academic research. Rooted in bi-partisan debate, the Orientation is hailed as being comprehensive in scope, offering opposing voices and ideas.

Attending legislators and their senior staff are engaged in the panel debates, offering questions and comments as part of the discussion.

This two-day event is historically sold-out weeks in advance and commands standing-room-only attendance. Legislators, corporate investors, national foundations and individuals support the event with time, resources and funding. Sponsorship opportunities are available.
