

Ashleen Bagnulo, Ph.D.
Assistant Professor of Political Science
Texas State University

Ashleen Menchaca-Bagnulo (Notre Dame '13) is Assistant Professor of Political Science at Texas State University. She has held positions at Princeton University, the United States Naval Academy's Stockdale Center for Ethical Leadership and Furman University. She studies the civic republic tradition and the topics of race, women, and religion, and has published in the European Journal of Political Theory, The Journal of Bioethics in Law & Culture Quarterly, and Armed Forces & Society (forthcoming 2018). She has also contributed regularly to Public Discourse and has been featured in popular media forums such as America Magazine, NBC Latino and Sirius XM's America this Week.

Dr. Menchaca-Bagnulo is the recipient of a 2018 College of Liberal Arts Award for Excellence in Teaching. She teaches courses in political theory and constitutional law and serves as a faculty sponsor Supporting Women in Political Science and St. Paul's Outreach. She is originally from the South Central Texas region and lives with her family in New Braunfels, Texas.