

Greg Paras

Deputy Director

Utah Department of Workforce Services

Greg Paras serves as a deputy director for Utah's Department of Workforce Services.

Throughout more than 26 years with the department, Greg has held positions ranging from a frontline staff member to various leadership roles. He is currently the deputy director overseeing Workforce Development (including activities within more than 30 American Job Centers around the state, apprenticeships, and veteran services), the Utah State Office of Rehabilitation, Workforce Research and Analysis, Administrative Support (including finance, facilities, contracts, and information security), and Technology Services.